TOP 5 REASONS TO COME TO THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA, RENO

Come to Nevada and find a high desert oasis surrounded by snowcapped mountains, accessible faculty solving global problems and students participating in competitions among the best universities in the world-and winning. We've got the quality of education you need to be competitive in the world at prices you can actually afford. Why would you go anywhere else?

1- Tier 1 Quality, Unrivaled Affordability on a Gorgeous Campus
Many students are forced to choose between quality and affordability. At the University of Nevada, Reno you can have both. Our students pay 80 percent less than at the average Tier 1 institution. From the 100-year-old, elm tree-lined Jeffersonian quad to the state-of-the-art Mathewson-IGT Knowledge Center, the campus possesses historic beauty and digital convenience alike.

2- Strong Academic Reputation
Faculty at the University of Nevada, Reno is well respected in their fields and often brings home career achievement awards. In the College of Science, several faculty members have earned the National Science Foundation's CAREER award, which honors up-and-coming professors with $500,000 grants. Unlike many public research universities, the University of Nevada, Reno offers its students the chance to get up close and personal with highly credentialed faculty, researchers and professionals. Ph.D. professors regularly teach undergraduate students and invite them to research labs or internships.

3- Beautiful Surroundings

Located on the border between the Great Basin and the Sierra Nevada, Reno has been dubbed "America's Adventure Place" for its impressive and diverse geographic offerings. With crystal clear Lake Tahoe 30 minutes to the west, the barren Black Rock Desert to the northeast, and Yosemite a short road trip to the southwest, Reno is a great destination for nature lovers and adrenaline junkies alike.

4- Vibrant Cultural Scene

Reno often conjures up images of entertainment and the Wild West. More recently, Reno has experienced a Bohemian renaissance, with a growing arts community, increasing international flavor and counterculture festivals. In addition, at the University of Nevada, Reno you will find a vibrant global community of students and scholars representing over 70 nations. The Office of International Students and Scholars provides information and advice regarding visa categories, employment options, and cultural adjustment. Programs and activities are offered that foster intercultural understanding and enhance the skills needed to be successful in an increasingly interconnected world.

5- Classic College Experience

With striking residence halls, an involved student government and active fraternities and sororities, University of Nevada, Reno offers a classic college student experience. Such history and tradition are especially apparent during Homecoming and Mackay Week. As a member of the Mountain West Conference, students can expect to see the Wolf Pack face off against top quality competition. Such spirited competition builds campus community and offers students an exciting diversion from their academic pursuits.