The University of Nevada has inducted its largest class since 1974 to the Athletics Hall of Fame. Golfer Michael Allen, football standouts John Dutton and Chris Lemon, baseball player Justin Martin, women’s basketball player Kate Smith, swimmer Terina Cook Dutton, skier Katerina Hanusova Nash and men’s basketball coach Trent Johnson made up the eight-member class that was inducted Sept. 20-21.

“This is an amazing class that represents so much of our great tradition and history at Nevada,” said Athletics Director Doug Knuth.

Including this year’s honorees, 173 individuals and two teams have been inducted to the Nevada Athletics Hall of Fame since 1973. Plaques honoring each inductee can be found in the Hall of Fame Room at Legacy Hall.

Nevada Athletics Hall of Fame, Class of 2013

Michael Allen earned honorable-mention All-America honors by the NCAA Coaches Selection Committee in 1982. A first-team All-Big Sky and All-NCAA Region 7 selection, he turned in a 74.2 stroke average and won individual medalist honors at the 1982 University of Nevada Spring Tournament at Edgewood. Allen has gone on to have a distinguished professional career and is currently playing on the Champions Tour. He has won four times on the Champions Tour and became the first multiple event winner on the Champions Tour in 2012. He also won the Mississippi Gulf Resort Classic in 2013.

John Dutton '00 (physical education) won Nevada’s Golden Helmet Team MVP award in 1997. He guided the Wolf Pack to Big West co-championships in 1996 and 1997 and the Las Vegas Bowl in 1996. A two-year starter at quarterback, he was named the 1996 and 1997 Big West Offensive Player of the Year and a two-time All-Big West first-team honoree. Dutton racked up 2,750 yards passing and 22 touchdowns with only six interceptions in 1996 and added 3,526 yards and 20 touchdowns with only six interceptions in 1997. He ranks seventh in career passing yards (6,276) and eighth in career passing touchdowns (42) at Nevada despite playing just two seasons. Dutton has gone on to have a successful career in the Arena Football League, leading the San Jose Sabercats to the Arena Bowl championship in 2002 and the Colorado Crush to the title in 2005. He and his wife, Terina Cook Dutton, a former Wolf Pack student-athlete and fellow 2013 Hall of Fame inductee, have founded the Dutton Foundation and Heavenly Hope Ministries.

Terina Cook Dutton '02 (physical education) was a two-sport athlete in both swimming and track and field and qualified for the conference championships in both sports. In swimming, she was an eight-time All-American, all as part of Nevada’s relay teams, and helped the Wolf Pack to four Big West team titles (1996, 1997, 1998, 2000). She swam on the school record-setting 200 and 400 medley relay teams and appears nine times in the Nevada record book. Dutton helped the Wolf Pack win nine Big West relay titles and won the Big West individual championship in the 50 free in 1996 and 1997, breaking the school record both years. She also qualified for and competed in the U.S. Olympic Trials for swimming.

Katerina Hanusova Nash – Skiing (2001-02)

Katerina Hanusova Nash '04 (marketing) won three NCAA individual championships, capturing the 15k freestyle and the 5k classical national titles in 2001 and defending her 15k freestyle title in 2002. She became the second Wolf Pack skier to win a national title and the first since Nevada Hall of Fame inductee Pat Myers won the downhill title in 1952. She was a four-time All-American while at Nevada, earning the honors in both the 15k freestyle and 5k classical events in 2001 and 2002. Nash is a four-time Olympian for the Czech Republic, competing in mountain biking in 1996 and 2012 and cross country skiing in 1998 and 2002.

Trent Johnson turned in a 79-74 record in five seasons at Nevada. He started Nevada’s string of nine consecutive winning seasons and eight straight postseason appearances. He guided Nevada to its first Western Athletic Conference regular-season and tournament championships in 2003-04, as well as its first appearance in the NCAA Sweet Sixteen. That year, Nevada turned in a 25-9 record, starting a string of four consecutive seasons with at least 25 victories. Johnson coached guard Kirk Snyder to the 2004 WAC Player of the Year award and honorable-mention AP All-America honors. He left Nevada to become the head basketball coach at Stanford University and Louisiana State University, and he is currently the head basketball coach at Texas Christian University.
He also came up with the idea of having NBA-style seats at courtside and on the sidelines at Lawlor Events Center, a model that has allowed Wolf Pack Athletics to generate more than $15 million in scholarship support, and created the Starting Five, the financial support group that has generated more than $2 million in community support since its inception.

Chris Lemon – Football (1996-99)

Chris Lemon ’00 (history) earned first-team All-Big West honors in 1999 and second-team accolades in 1997 and 1998. The running back became the Big West’s all-time touchdown leader with 56 touchdowns and ranks third in the Nevada record book in career touchdowns scored. He checks in at second on Nevada’s list for career rushing touchdowns (53) and attempts (904) and fourth in career rushing yards (4,246). He turned in three 1,000-yard rushing seasons (1,170 in 1999, 1,154 in 1998 and 1,055 in 1997). Lemon held the school records for career and single-season rushing touchdowns until Colin Kaepernick ’10 (management) broke both marks in 2010. He also became the Big West’s career leader for carries and is second in career rushing yards in the conference.

Justin Martin – Baseball (1996-99)

Justin Martin ’02 (general studies) earned second-team All-Big West honors at second base in 1998 and 1999. He helped Nevada to a pair of NCAA Regional appearances in 1997 and 1999 as well as Big West championships in 1997 and 1998. He scored 69 runs (10th on Nevada’s single-season charts), had 88 hits (sixth) and 26 stolen bases (tied for fourth) in 1999. Martin’s career batting average of .357 ranks eighth all time at Nevada, and he holds the school record with 62 career stolen bases.

Kate Smith ’03 (speech pathology) earned honorable-mention Kodak All-America honors in 2001. A three-time all-conference selection, she was the 2000 Big West Conference Freshman of the Year and earned second-team All-Big West honors that year. She was also a two-time first-team All-WAC selection in 2001 and 2002. Smith appears in the Nevada record book 13 times, ranking second in career scoring at Nevada with 1,942 points and third in career rebounding (785) and free throws made (464). Smith is one of just six players in school history to record 1,000 points and 500 rebounds and ranks 10th in career assists (216), third in career free throws made (464) and seventh in career blocked shots (82). After Nevada, she signed a professional contract with Helios, a professional team in Switzerland, in 2003.