II. New Business
The KUNR Pledge Drive is looking for six volunteers on April 2-7 between 5-6 p.m. and 8-9 p.m. Contact Jodie Helman if you are interested.

Costco wanted to remind us that anyone who picked up an application at the Open House for a Costco card are entitled to a free pie or dozen muffins if the applications is turned in by the end of March.

Ginger Miller asked for help in locating pictures of past Employee of the Year recipients. The pictures will be archived on the SEC website.

No revisions were noted as being needed by the council to the proposed revised SEC By-Laws. The By-Laws committee will prepare the final draft for April voting by council members.

The Executive Board is continuing to work on the SEC support position. It is noted that this position is not required to be a Stand Alone position, meaning a person may work in another department on campus as well as for the SEC.

III. Agenda Item
Jim Kidder, Associate V.P., Planning, Budget & Analysis and Carlos Ledon, ASUN president appeared before the SEC to solicit support for a resolution to expand the guidelines of free speech in the UNR Administrative Manual. Jim Kidder assisted ASUN in 1998 in developing the current policy and supports the proposed changes made by Carlos Ledon and ASUN. The council reviewed the current and proposed policy and voted to support the ASUN resolution to amend Section 5, 303 of the Administrative Manual.
Jim Kidder informed the council that the Administrative Manual is available online and it is kept updated with changes as they occur.

IV. Guest Speaker
Adam Garcia, newly appointed UNR Police Director, introduced himself to the council as coming from Michigan with 22 years of experience in a variety of public safety positions. Mr. Garcia is a strong advocate of community-based campus policing. One of his ideas for the future is to establish a liaison board with student and staff involvement and is currently implementing a 6-month assessment of the UNR police department and its role on campus. Mr. Garcia is aware of the past proposal to place UNR police under Public Safety and is opposed to this stating he believes in local control. While he is busy acquainting himself with campus and the area, Mr. Garcia expressed an eagerness to hear from staff on any suggestions or concerns we may have.

Committee Reports
Affirmative Action:
We discussed finding a standard meeting time for the rest of the semester. The times that were proposed were as follows: Friday mornings, Monday mornings, brown bag lunch meetings Wednesday (12 – 1 p.m.), or 2:30 – 3:30 Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday.

We attempted to finalize the Teaching Controversy dialogue. We decided on a target date of the first week in April for this event. Student panel members are needed. The dialogue was characterized as ways to help faculty provide guidance to students in these difficult discussions and assisting students to effectively express their thoughts. Kelly volunteered to check with the Contemporary Issues Chair of Flipside programming board for suggestions of student panel members. She will also follow up with the Women’s Studies Department. Joe and Esther indicated they would try to find either current or previous students from their classes to participate.

Kelly informed the group of a panel discussion on freedom of speech sponsored by Flipside programming board on March 6th. The issue will be discussed from libertarian and communitarian perspectives. Our advisory board was asked to identify possible panel members to represent the communitarian viewpoint. No one at the meeting was interested in serving as a panelist but several suggestions were made regarding other possible panelists.

Kelly discussed the possibility of bringing T.J. Leydon, a former skin head now employed by the Simon Wiesenthal Center, to campus. The earliest date he has available is September. We are coordinating this event with Dr. Viktoria Hertling from the Center for Holocaust, Genocide, and Peace Studies. Security issues are of the utmost concern. We cannot use his name or photo in any pre-event publicity. The Wiesenthal Center is sending a press packet to outline how the event can be advertised. We plan to solicit co-sponsorship from ASUN, GSA, and several community groups. Bob Eggleston from Advancement indicated he might be able to secure lodging for Leydon from a local casino.

Jason was not at the meeting to provide an update on the multicultural conference and the possibility of campus dialogue participating in the planning process. Kelly indicated she would follow up with Jason.
Kelly stated that we are still experiencing difficulty establishing a set meeting time due to the divergence of everyone’s schedules. Joe suggested that we meet on a monthly basis and stress e-mail communication and dialogue in between meetings.

Kelly informed the group that messages have been left with the editor of the Sagebrush regarding the possibility of the advisory board having a monthly guest column. We have not received a response from her to date.

Arboretum Board:
The Arboretum Board discussed the upcoming Arbor Day festivities scheduled for Friday, April 27th. Professional big tree pruners will be on campus to demonstrate climbing and pruning techniques. Food and music will also be on hand for the festivities.

A new system will be devised to track Arboretum donations more effectively.

Parking and Traffic Board:
After the meeting was called to order, Melody Bayfield re-introduced Dan Grayuski from Fehr and Peers to give the board an update on the five year parking master plan for the University of Nevada, Reno.

The meeting began with Mr. Grayuski discussing the process and schedule for development of a Short-Range Parking Plan, which includes goal setting and mission statement, analysis results and needs, recommendations, and the development of a draft plan. This process will be completed within 3 months.

Goals of the Parking and Traffic Board are:

Continue to provide short-term parking for visitors and to ensure that everyone pays for parking (Equity Issue).

Continue to provide affordable parking in outlying areas
Attempt to use University real estate funds for Campus Master Plan needs (if appropriate).

Mr. Records asked Mr. Grayuski his analysis of how other Universities handles their disabled patrons on campus. Mr. Grayuski explained that although most universities do not charge for disabled parking, it was ethical to charge a registration fee to those disabled patrons for a permit to cut down on placard abuse.
