TECNUN
Information sheet

About the university:

The University of Navarra is a Catholic University founded in 1952 on strong core values. It has been ranked 57th by the QS Graduate Employability Ranking and 1st within the Spanish private universities, both in the Spanish Ranking of reference "El Mundo" and also at the QS World University Ranking, where it is ranked #265. The University has several Campuses, the IESE Business School in Madrid, Barcelona, Munich and New York, the main university campus in Pamplona, with 17 Faculties and Schools (including University of Navarra Hospital, the CIMA Medical Research Center, and the University Museum), and Tecnun and its affiliated Research Centre CEIT sharing facilities in two different campuses, both in the city of San Sebastian, at the Spanish Northern coastline, next to France.

TECNUN is also ranked as the 1st Engineering School in Spain within the non-state-funded Universities, and 4th in the global national ranking, according to the Spanish ranking of reference "El Mundo". TECNUN offers bilingual degrees (Spanish/English) in the Bch/Ms model (4+1.5).

The current Tecnun academic offer is:

- Undergraduate Degrees:
  - Engineering in Industrial Technologies
  - Mechanical Engineering
  - Electrical Engineering
  - Engineering in Industrial Electronics
  - Engineering in Telecommunications Systems
  - Engineering in Communications Electronics
  - Industrial Management Engineering
  - Engineering in Industrial Design and Product Development

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Mentoring programme</th>
<th>Student mentoring is defined as a one-to-one relationship between a student and a lecturer. The lecturer provides consistent support, guidance, and mentoring to the students seeking to improve the students’ academic performance and to facilitate their participation in college life. Mentors help students to plot cultural and personal goals leading to a more personal and efficient form of education. Additionally, a local student, known as a “Buddy”, is offered to all the international students to help setting up and integrating in the local community.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Orientation programme | A Welcoming Day is designed to assist new international students in settling into university life at the University of Navarra. During Welcoming Day you can:
- Meet other students and staff, including mentors (Tecnun faculty members) and Buddy (local students)
- Receive important information about your programme of study
- Familiarise yourself with the School and all its facilities |

| Is the orientation compulsory? | Yes, it is. |

Tourist Information:

San Sebastián - The city

San Sebastian is a stunning Summer destination, one of the most beautiful seaside towns in Europe according to the British Newspaper The Times, a city that is impossible not to fall in love with, as Lonely Planet states and one of the “15 destinations on the rise”, according to Tripadvisor.

San Sebastian (also called Donostia in Basque) is a cosmopolitan city, medium sized (around 180,000 inhabitants), facing the sea, and very famous for its beauty and aesthetic appeal. It’s a great city to live and study.
