About Ronald McDonald House Charities®
The Ridge House is a non-profit organization providing a recovery-oriented system of care to individuals in recovery from addiction, substance abuse, mental health disorders, co-occurring, and reentering the community after incarceration.

Through the Ridge House programs and services, individuals that may have returned to drugs or crime to support their addiction are now sober, law-abiding citizens who are positively contributing to the community. The Ridge House loves the individual until they understand that they can love themselves.

The Ridge House recovery-oriented system of care works; while the state of Nevada’s three year rate of recidivism is around 75 percent, the Ridge House has managed to lower that rate in their clients to a striking 25 percent.
