Nevada TACSEI Pyramid Model Partnership

Contact Person

Name: Janice Lee
Phone: (775) 682–9065
Email: janicelee@unr.edu

Physical Address: University of Nevada, Reno 1664 N. Virginia Street, WRB 3104, Reno, NV 89557

Mailing Address (if different): University of Nevada, Reno, 1664 N. Virginia St., NCED MS 285, Reno, NV 89557

Internship Site Information

Nevada TACSEI is a statewide initiative to build state capacity to develop, implement and sustain a comprehensive system of training and technical assistance for supporting social emotional competence and addressing challenging behaviors in young children at-risk for or with identified developmental delays. Primary goals are to enhance the ability of the early care and education workforce to address the social, emotional and behavioral needs of all young children birth to 5 years and increase the availability of inclusive settings where all children have access to high quality early childhood settings. Internships hours can be flexible, with opportunities for trainings and events during evenings and weekends. Roles may include, but are not limited to, assisting with trainings and events, developing products for dissemination to the early childhood community, creating resource lists, participating in meetings, and creating, disseminating, and summarizing surveys. Interns will work with the Person of Contact as well as Regional Coordinators. Depending on experience and interest, internship activities can be flexible for the maximum benefit of all.

Number of Internships Available: 2

Student Requirements

Preference will be given to students who are interested in working with young children in classroom or home/family contexts and promoting the social emotional competence of young children, their families, and those who work with and support young children and families.

How will student obtain this internship?

Interested students should contact Janice Lee directly via email (janicelee@unr.edu) or phone (775-682-9065).

Form Updated On 4/2/2019